

Thanksgiving at Grandma's
Version II

Holidays are special days when there is no school, many moms and dads don't have to go to work, and special things happen.

Thanksgiving is a holiday. There is no school and there are lots of parades on TV. This Thanksgiving Mom, Dad and I will go to Grandma's house to eat a special meal and visit with Grandma, Grandpa, aunts, uncles and cousins.

First we will drive for one hour to Grandma's house.

Then we will have dinner time. I can try some new foods if I like, but it is okay if I eat my usual food that I like. Mom and Dad will bring my usual food.

After dinner, people will have visit time: they will talk or watch TV or play. I will try my best to play a little bit and Mom and Dad will be happy. I can be by myself too. It is okay to be by myself sometimes.

If I need a break, Mom will help me find a quiet break area. It is okay to ask for a break when I need a break. Mom and Dad are happy when I use my break card to ask for a break.

After visit time, Mom, Dad and I will drive back to our home.

At the end of Thanksgiving Day, Mom, Dad and I will be back home in our house.
